

Documents are passed into the printer

操作说明

User Guide

1. Write an instruction or file and save it as a BAS file .

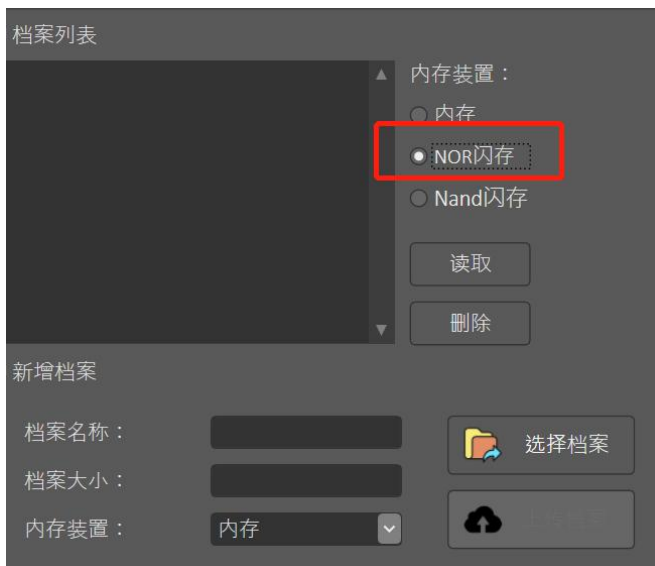

2. Open the PrinterUtility and read the printer information.

3. Open File Management in the top right corner in the figure below:

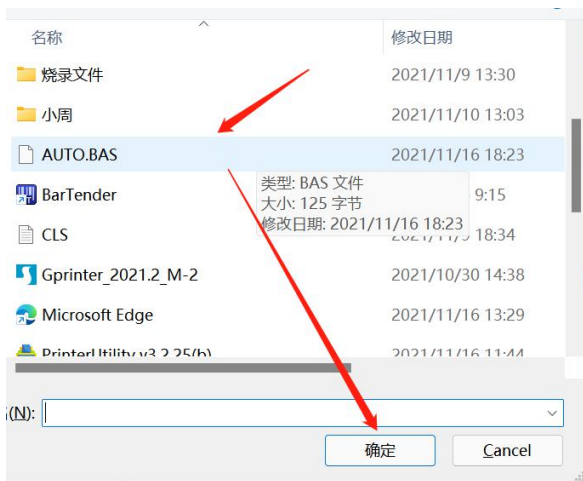

4. Select NOR Flash or Nand Flash Note: (NOR flash is a random storage medium for small data volume; NAND flash is a continuous storage medium, suitable for large data, please select according to the data size.)

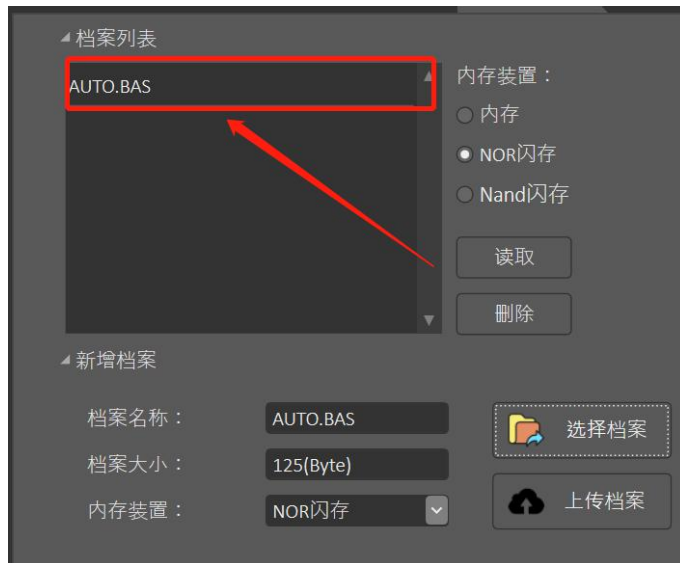

5. The upper and lower memory devices must be consistent

6. Select the file to be imported to the printer

7. The file list displays the file name

8. Restart the printer and read the file list; the file name is uploaded successfully